

Integrating Google with Jombone

Employers & Recruiting professionals should be informed in advance of the Worker's commute to their workplace. The commute is 1 of the top 3 motivators to appeal to the Worker and it will set them up for successful employment experience. With a realistic commute for the Worker - they are sure to remain committed & motivated to assignment completion.

Jombone integrates with Google Maps Platform and utilizes Directions, Distance Matrix, Roads and Places API to calculate and estimate commute time from a worker's home address to the job location with a single click.

This makes it convenient for workers to know commute before applying to jobs and helps companies shortlist workers based on commute preferences.

This facilitates local hiring and helps companies and workers share a lasting employment relationship.

Jombone

In 2016, Jombone was born with a mission to eliminate costly inefficiencies in the temporary work hiring industry. Jombone's goal is to create a transparent end to end hiring, staffing and employment management framework where companies and workers share an employment-ready relationship; conveniently accessed using our mobile apps and website.
